Dickon and the Baby Sheep

That night Colin slept well. When he woke up it was morning, and he felt happy. Soon Mary came to see him.

'I can't tell you how beautiful it is!' she cried, 'spring has come. The seeds which we planted have grown, and everywhere is green. Dickon has come, and he has brought his animals with him'.

'When do you think he will come and see me?' Colin asked. 'Very soon', answered Mary.

There were heavy footsteps outside the door and then Colin saw Dickon for the first time.

Dickon had a baby sheep with him. It was hungry, so they gave it some milk. Then they talked, and Dickon told them that he had found the baby sheep on the moor three days before.

Its mother was dead, so he was giving it food. Then they talked about the other animals which were with him, and they looked at the gardening books. They were all very happy, and the morning went very quickly. Before Dickon went away, Colin said: 'I'm coming to see the secret garden as soon as I can.'
